

Isabelle Guiller born 1964 joined Symrise in 1989 and has held various leadership positions within Diana, now part of Symrise. She served as R&D Director at Diana Petfood, overseeing palatability, nutrition & health, pet food protection, and pet care innovation. She also led Diana NOVA, the company's internal incubator, before becoming Scientific Director.

Since 2022, Isabelle Guiller has been Scientific Director and Director of Innovation within the Business Incubation Group (BIG) at Symrise, in the Taste, Nutrition & Health segment.

She holds a master's degree in food technology from Nantes Université – Enitiaa – ENV Nantes.